

Intravesical therapy for NMIBC

9th Course of the European School of Urology Nursing

12-13 June 2026, Gdansk, Poland

www.eaun.org

Preliminary Scientific Programme

Aims:

To enhance nurses' knowledge, confidence, and practical competence in the delivery of intravesical therapy for patients with non-muscle-invasive bladder cancer (NMIBC). The course aims to standardise practice across Europe, strengthen patient safety, and empower participants to become local trainers and advocates for evidence-based NMIBC care within their institutions.

Objectives:

At the end of the course, participants will be able to:

- Explain the principles and rationale of intravesical therapy in the management of non-muscle-invasive bladder cancer (NMIBC)
- Differentiate between types of intravesical agents (e.g. BCG, chemotherapy, hyaluronic acid) and their mechanisms of action.
- Demonstrate safe preparation, administration, and handling procedures for intravesical treatments in clinical practice.
- Identify contraindications, side-effects, and appropriate nursing interventions for managing adverse events.
- Apply evidence-based guidelines and standard operating procedures to ensure consistency and patient safety.
- Evaluate strategies for patient assessment through effective communication and education to enhance patient adherence to treatment.
- Develop the confidence and competence to train colleagues locally, supporting a sustainable "Train-the-Trainer" model for NMIBC care.

Target group:

Experienced or specialised nurses involved in the care of bladder cancer patients in clinical, outpatient, or community settings. Participants should be motivated to act as local ambassadors for NMIBC best practice and be able to disseminate the knowledge and skills gained during the course to colleagues in their own organisations or regions.
